As a resident of Insch I was pleased to read that the lack of parking provision close to the town centre has been noted. I work in the [redacted] and hear all the time that customers would like a bigger shop for the town. I know the [redacted] would not consider this unless the town was continuing to grow.

Parents would obviously expect to see a new primary school if a large number of homes continue to be built.

Shoppers would love to see something other than a hairdresser open in the village as we now have 5! YES FIVE!!

I would like to support all sites outlined for housing development. Although I feel site GR015 would need to be carefully managed as visually it would have the biggest impact on the feel of Insch as a rural hamlet. The view from the train station and the newly re-opened Station Hotel adjacent would be severely affected by building on that site. The style of homes would need careful consideration with traditional styles probably being preferred by local residents. Site OP4 also strongly supported as any development which encourages further job opportunities is very welcome to Insch.

I was born in Insch and have lived here all my adult life. I have been very happy to see the growth of the town over the last 10+ years.

I would really like to see shopping opportunities encouraged in Insch and not solely concentrate on making this a commuter village. In this age of cutting environmental pollution this must only be a good thing.
