I object to the proposed building of 60 + 598 = 658 dwellings in Inch as identified by GR015, GR029a, GR029b & GR029c in the Inch section of:
“Local Development Plan 2021
Main Issues Report
January 2019”

The main reason I object is that demand for housing is currently very low with about 70 houses for sale in Inch a few months ago and unlikely to improve due to the current market situation with oil and gas. Housing demand is one of the criteria in the councils “Development Planning Process”. Another reason for objecting is that the infrastructure of Inch would suffer with the addition of so many dwellings e.g. lack of primary school places, overwhelming number of new patients for Inch Medical Practice”.

None of the proposed housing seems to be allocated to land recently freed from Tree Preservation Order “AC TPO 80 (2018) Drumrossie, Inch” which is the only point I can find in its favour.
