

APPENDIX II
CONSERVATION AREAS

APPENDIX 11

CONSERVATION AREAS

Under the Planning (Listed Buildings and Conservation Areas) (Scotland) Act 1997 a Local Authority may determine which parts of its area are of special architectural or historic interest and may designate these as Conservation Areas.

An Article 4 Direction is not a conservation designation but an additional control within such areas. It is a statement made under The Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (Scotland) Order 1992 as amended by The Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (Scotland) Amendment Order 2011. The Direction, made by a Local Authority and approved by Scottish Ministers, removes all or some of the permitted development rights on an area.

Part 1 Development Within the Curtilage of a Dwellinghouse

Part 2 Sundry Minor Operations

Part 4 Temporary Buildings and Uses

Part 6 Agricultural Buildings and operations

Part 8 Industrial and Warehouse Development

Part 9 Repairs to Private Roads And Private Ways

Part 10 Repairs to Services

Part 11 Development Under Local or Private Acts or Orders

Part 12 Development by Local Authorities

Part 13 Development by Statutory Undertakers

Part 20 Development by Telecommunications Code System Operators

Conservation areas in Buchan & Banff and Buchan made in the period 1970 to 1975 referred to Class 11 under the legislation in power at that time. The 1992 regulations changed this to Part 12 paragraph 30 (works by a Local Authority).

The effect of a Direction is that planning permission will be required for specific types of development which would otherwise be regarded as 'permitted development', i.e. development that does not require a planning application. Directions can cover a variety of minor works and might include: the replacement of doors and windows, the erection of gates, fences, garages, sheds, porches, storage tanks or the installation of satellite antennae.

Some conservation areas are identified as "Outstanding" Conservation Areas. Where this accolade is made this is noted in the following tables. Some Local Authorities make grants available for the enhancement of the character of their conservation areas. Scottish Ministers, on the advice of Historic Scotland, may make grants in respect of buildings of outstanding historic or architectural interest and in respect of the promotion, preservation or enhancement of conservation areas.

Review of conservation areas is an on-going process and the list presented here may not reflect the current status of the Article 4 Direction. In all cases advice should be sought from Aberdeenshire Council before taking action.
